About Davenant Hall

Davenant Hall is reimagining theological education.

The digital age has disrupted established relationships between teachers, institutions, and students across the educational landscape, with theological education being no exception. Many well-established institutions have been slow to adapt to these radical changes and have been left exposed as inefficient and overpriced. For motivated self-learners with a hunger to learn from expert teachers, a new educational landscape has opened up.

Davenant Hall is seeking to form this exciting new landscape. It combines the rich theological and moral vision of reformed catholic orthodoxy with a self-conscious desire to create unique modern expressions of the “Republic of Letters,” the dynamic intellectual community which characterized the Reformation era of learning.

We advance and renew Christian wisdom for the digital age, harnessing the new powers of the internet to offer effective and flexible online instruction and the old practices of community and mentorship to seek wisdom together through discipleship retreats and residential intensives.

Taking these together, Davenant Hall allows students to engage the great tradition in order to mature and grow into whatever vocation God has given them. This curriculum affords students the opportunity to work through texts with guides who can enable students to more deeply know God’s two books, and themselves, in a way that moves them toward the mastery of wisdom: the effective grasp of Word and world, and the ability to see all things in the radiance the eternal Logos whose light enlightens all men and who can be found by those who seek Him.

We offer courses in Theology and Ethics, Bible, Philosophy, Christian History, Languages, and Literature. Courses run for 10 weeks and are taught in 2-hour weekly Zoom sessions (summer is 8 weeks with 1.5 hour meetings). Class meetings involve a mixture of lecture and discussion. Students are assigned reading before class and invited to participate in discussion outside of class in our Davenant Common Room Discord server. If students cannot make any sessions, recordings are available.

HOW TO APPLY TO A DEGREE PROGRAM

Students seeking to apply to one of the degree programs listed in this catalog must fill out the application at <https://davenant-hall.com/>. Details on application requirements are listed on the website as well as under the degree descriptions in this catalog. Please note that there is a non-refundable fee associated with each program application:

- Certificate Application: free
- Masters Application: $49
- Doctoral Application: $150

SWITCHING DEGREES

Degree students already in one of Davenant's programs may request to transfer their earned credit to a new program by emailing the registrar (registrar@davenantinstitute.org).

TRANSFER CREDIT POLICY

Degree students may request to transfer credits of graduate courses from another graduate institution. Undergraduate credits will not be accepted. Acceptance of credits will be conducted on a case-by-case basis, will require an academic transcript, and may require a course description or syllabus from the other institution's catalog. Transfer credit cannot be applied to a certificate degree. To request transfer credit, please email the registrar (registrar@davenantinstitute.org).

Courses from the previous institution must have earned a minimum of B. Up to 6 courses may be transferred to one of our degree subject areas. Up to 6 language courses (Latin, Greek, Hebrew) may be transferred, but actual competency will be assessed on a case-by-case basis.

Transfer credits that are translated into our program may not reflect the same number of credits as the other institution. Transfer credits cannot substitute for required core courses in each subject area, though elective credit may be granted.

MINIMUM GRADE REQUIREMENT FOR DEGREE STUDENTS

Students enrolled in one of our degrees must maintain a minimum GPA of 3.0 (B average). If the students' GPA falls below 3.0, Davenant will initiate conversation with the student to judge whether the student is ready for their program.

If the student earns a grade lower than a "C" (2.0) on a course required for their degree, they must retake the course in order to graduate. Their new grade will replace their former grade. If a degree student earns a grade lower than a "C" (2.0) on an elective, they are not required to retake the course, but they may request to retake the course or a close equivalent as a substitute for their former grade.

ACADEMIC PLAGIARISM & AI POLICY

All submitted work must reflect the student's own thinking, analysis, and writing. Submitting the ideas or writing of others or of AI constitutes plagiarism. Plagiarism includes improper citations, paraphrases without attribution, and direct copying. Self-plagiarism (reusing one's previously submitted work without acknowledgment) is also prohibited. Violations result in course failure and possible academic probation or dismissal. Students must properly attribute all sources and seek guidance when uncertain about citation requirements.

M.LITT. CAPSTONE THESIS (4 CREDITS)

Students will register for C9011 Thesis Preparation the first term and C9012 Thesis Assessment the second term.

PAPER REQUIREMENTS

- Thesis: Students will write a 15,000–20,000 word thesis on their chosen subject area supervised by a Davenant instructor in the related field.
- Goal: These papers are meant to grow the depth of a student's knowledge and their skill in analysis and communication through rigorous research and writing.
- Registration: Students will register for the course as a normal course and pay normal tuition. Prior to registering, they should communicate with a prospective supervisor and establish willingness to supervise based on general subject interest.
- Advising: The student will request an instructor as their supervisor. The student will communicate regularly with their advisor about their supervisor's expectations, but initiative lies primarily with the student.
- Word Count: 15,000–20,000.
- Method: Thesis and argumentative paper.
- Due Date: At the end of the second term of the project. For example, a paper beginning in Hilary is due at the end of Trinity.
- Rigor: The thesis should display a level of academic rigor commensurate with the skills expected of a graduating masters student or prospective PhD student. The adequacy of content is left to advisor discretion. (See Advisor Discretion Below).
- Content: The subject of the thesis should be representative of Davenant's emphasis on the classical reformed theology and philosophy tradition.
- Sources: Focus on primary text(s). Research will normally include some academic secondary sources. Quality and number of sources left to advisor discretion (See Advisor Discretion below).

ADVISOR INVOLVEMENT

- Goal: The advisor will not choose the student's topic nor conduct research for them. After initial contact, advisors will occasionally check in on students, though normally most contact will be student-initiated. The primary role of the advisor is to give feedback and grade the paper. The advisor will meet with the student at least once at the beginning of each of the two terms.
- Advisor Discretion: Within the first few weeks of supervision, the advisor will clearly establish expectations of content, rigor, quality and quantity of sources, grading expectations, and other elements of advisor discretion so the student can plan accordingly.
- Meeting: The Advisor will normally meet with the student as needed over Zoom, especially near the beginning as the topic is being chosen.
- Communication: Feedback will be given as needed throughout the project, normally initiated by student questions.
- Grading: Grading will be according to advisor discretion and the standards listed above.

PHD PROGRAM

PHD IN THEOLOGY IN CONJUNCTION WITH UNION THEOLOGICAL COLLEGE

A Doctorate of Philosophy is the highest level of degree that a student can achieve, demonstrating academic excellence through independent, creative thought and the ability to interact with modern scholarship.

Any students around the world who want to pursue advanced research in biblical studies, historical theology, philosophical theology, and more with Davenant Hall's respected scholars now have the opportunity to do so by applying for PhD study at Union Theological College, one of one of the UK's finest theological colleges, while still being supervised by Davenant Hall faculty.

2. The prospective supervisor will dialogue with the applicant concerning their readiness and specific topic. Promising students should develop a dissertation proposal.
3. If a supervisor accepts the applicant, the applicant will fill out the Doctoral application on the Davenant Hall website. This will satisfy the UTC admission requirements.
4. The Davenant Institute will then discuss the application materials and dissertation proposal in conjunction with Union Theological College and make a final decision on the applicant's acceptance.
5. Students must meet UTC admission requirements:

 - Research proposal
 - Sample of academic work (2,000 words)

PHD FREQUENTLY ASKED QUESTIONS

How do I apply if I am a current or former Davenant student?

The application process is the same for former Davenant students as other students. The difference is that our familiarity with former Davenant students will often allow for a quicker response.

Can I apply if I do not have a degree at Davenant?

Yes, the application process is the same for former Davenant students as other students. The difference is that our familiarity with former Davenant students will often allow for a quicker response.

If I apply directly to UTC, can I still get a Davenant supervisor?

Yes, though we prefer that you apply through Davenant's website. The application process at Davenant is based on the UTC application process with the specification that one of your references must be a pastoral character reference, as already required in our applications to our other programs.

What is the difference between a thesis and a dissertation?

It is common in the United States to refer to a bachelor's degree or master's degree capstone project as a thesis and a doctoral degree capstone project as a dissertation. In Europe, the terminology is the opposite, although even in the United States it is not uncommon to refer to a student's PhD thesis.

Is this a PhD in Theology, Philosophy, or other fields?

Theology, though this may encompass a wide range of subjects and fields depending on the student's dissertation topic and the expertise of their supervisor.

Is the PhD from Union or from Davenant?

The PhD will be awarded by (The Presbyterian Theological Faculty, Ireland” (PTFI) which is the official Royal Charter. Students will list their degree on their CV as PhD Union Theological College, Belfast (PTFI). For details see question 1 of the FAQs on Union’s website at www.union.ac.uk/admissions/faqs.

Is coursework required?

The PhD is an advanced research program. From the outset, the student focuses on working towards the completion of the dissertation. The only coursework required will be project specific in order for students to enhance necessary skills, for example, in languages. Students need to be well-prepared from previous study and be able to demonstrate appropriate competence in special skills, such as languages.

Is travel required?

No. Travel is not required for the PhD program.

What is the tuition?

See UTC website for the most up-to-date information. <https://www.union.ac.uk/>

Full-time £15,450 (per year) (3 years)

Part-time £7,725 (per year) (6 years)

Annual Registration: £190

Full time means at least 35 hours per week with any part time employment discussed with your supervisor to ensure it does not prevent appropriate study to enable submission in three years.

Part time means 18 hours per week with submission in six years. A student may in exceptional circumstances submit early. If students finish early (e.g. in five years), they will not be required to pay the remaining duration.

Are there any scholarships available?

At present, no. We have made an effort to price these classes at rock-bottom levels, so that cost will not be an obstacle to most students.

LANGUAGE COURSES

THE ANCIENT LANGUAGE INSTITUTE

In January 2022, we entered a new partnership with the Ancient Language Institute, allowing us to offer students a full suite of ancient language courses in Latin, Greek, and Hebrew. Founded in 2019 by long-time friends and collaborators of the Davenant Institute, the Ancient Language Institute encapsulates one of Davenant's central missions: to go "back to the sources" – reading the crucial texts of the Christian tradition in their original tongues. Moreover, ALI's approach to language pedagogy, which emphasizes inductive language acquisition and comprehensible inputs, aligns perfectly with Davenant's approach over years of ancient language instruction.

Degree-seeking students will enroll in ALI to fulfill their language course credit and receive a discount off of the standard ALI rates (see tuition section of the catalog for details). Discount codes available upon request. Non-degree seeking students, including anyone who has even audited a Davenant Hall class within the past year, will be eligible for a 10% discount off of standard ALI course prices. ALI language classes run on a 3-term schedule with 14 week terms, while all other Davenant Hall classes will run on a 4-term, 10-week schedule (8-week summer). For full information, and to register for courses, visit ancientlanguage.com.

COURSES OFFERED

R4001 – DISCIPLESHIP WEEK (1 credit)

Residential Discipleship Weeks provide our degree-seeking students with one-on-one mentoring at Davenant House (see information below). This week is tailored to each student, and typically involves daily meeting with someone at Davenant, a good bit of rest and reflection, and a program of leisurely study co-designed with the student before they arrive. This is also an excellent opportunity for on-site Davenant Staff to talk organically with students (over a week) about their personal sense of calling and vocation. Discipleship weeks are scheduled throughout the year by the Residential Teaching Fellow. For more information, please contact our Residential Teaching Fellow, Dr. Joseph Minich (j.minich@davenantinstitute.org).

R4101 – RESIDENTIAL INTENSIVE 1 (SUMMER): HOW TO READ THE BIBLE AND THE WORLD

“The fear of the Lord is the beginning of wisdom,” but only the beginning. To cultivate true wisdom, we need to know both how to read Scripture rightly, and to read the world around us rightly, so that we can faithfully and accurately apply the Word of God to our own challenging circumstances. In this residential intensive course, you will learn to read the Scriptures as more than merely a plan of salvation or a set of precepts, but as a roadmap to the cosmos and a narrative of God’s action in the world. You will also learn what it means to discern the order of creation, and sort through the complex testimony of science, history, and philosophy in order to read the world skillfully. For more information, please contact our Residential Teaching Fellow, Dr. Joseph Minich (j.minich@davenantinstitute.org).

R4102 – RESIDENTIAL INTENSIVE 2 (SUMMER): PROTESTANTISM AND THE COMMONWEALTH

Protestantism has been one of the chief causes and the chief beneficiaries of the separation of church and state. Today, however, the concept of “religious liberty” is increasingly unclear, and Protestants struggle to articulate the proper relationship of faith to public life. In this residential intensive course, you will become better acquainted with the long debate over the relationship of spiritual and political authority, the Reformation’s decisive contributions to this debate, and the rich heritage of Protestant social and political thought, and will be encouraged to creatively apply this heritage to the challenges of our own day. For more information, please contact our Residential Teaching Fellow, Dr. Joseph Minich (j.minich@davenantinstitute.org).

VIDEO LECTURE COURSES

Since the beginning, the Davenant Institute has been making extensive use of online media to make the resources of classical Protestantism available and accessible for all. Continuing that work, we are pleased to offer 20-hour video lecture courses as part of our larger Davenant Hall program.

HOW TO EARN CREDIT

To earn credit toward a degree program, students must register for the video courses at davenanthall.com. These courses will include lecture videos, required readings, and a pass/fail assessment based on the videos and readings. Students may register at any time, since these are independent study courses.

If the student is in a degree program, they will receive a discount on course registration upon request. If the student purchased the video lectures before being admitted to a degree, a refund will not be issued. If the student has purchased the video lectures for full price after being admitted to the program a refund for the difference may be issued. For questions, please contact our registrar (registrar@davenantinstitute.org).

COURSES OFFERED

V3001 – AN INTRODUCTION TO BIBLICAL WISDOM

Taught by Alastair Roberts

Faithful readers of Scripture may find themselves, even after decades steeped in the text, longing for a better understanding of God's Word. Deeper engagement requires better tools for excavating Scripture's many layers. If we aren't attentive to genre, literary form, and symbolism, we will be unequipped to fully grapple with the text.

In this engaging twenty-hour video lecture series from renowned biblical scholar Dr. Alastair Roberts, the listener will embark on a sweeping journey from Genesis to Revelation with a guide experienced in navigating Scripture's varied terrain. Listeners will gain a deeper understanding not only of the Bible itself and how it works, but also its vision for how we can grow in wisdom.

Required reading: Craig G. Bartholomew & Ryan P. O'Dowd, Old Testament Wisdom Literature: A Theological Introduction (Downers Grove, IL: IVP Academic, 2011)

V3002 – CHRIST AND HIS WORK

Taught by Michael Lynch

Who do you say that Jesus is? Why did God become man? Like Jesus' disciples, we are required both to assent not only to Jesus' kingdom, but to the truth of his being. Christology is at the core of the Christian faith, but confusions abound when many Christians try to make sense of the mystery of the incarnation: What does it mean that he has two natures? Does Jesus' humiliation mean that he actually emptied himself of his divinity?

In this twenty-hour lecture series, the widely-respected historical theologian and Davenant Hall professor Dr. Michael Lynch will consider these questions and many more. He will examine several heterodox positions related to the person and work of Christ, while filling out a fully-orbed, Reformed orthodox Christology. Listeners will gain both language and theological frameworks for understanding and speaking about our Lord in a biblically faithful and sound way, avoiding common heresies and misconceptions.

Required reading: Oliver Crisp, Divinity and Humanity: The Incarnation Reconsidered (Cambridge: Cambridge University Press, 2007); Robert Letham, The Work of Christ (Downers Grove, Ill: IVP, 1993).

V3003 – GOD IS: AN INTRODUCTION TO THEOLOGY PROPER*Taught by Ryan Hurd*

In this engaging twenty-hour video lecture series from Ryan Hurd, the listener will embark on a sweeping journey considering what theologians traditionally called the “divine names” of God. This includes not merely well-known titles usually ascribed to God, but all forms of speech about the Almighty. The course aims to cover everything that Christians undertake in the doctrine of God, or theology proper—“from A to Z.” It focuses on determining the main principles and distinctions required to do theology and achieve this goal. Particular focus is placed on scholastic theology and the helpfulness of Thomas Aquinas as a guide.

Required reading: Thomas Aquinas, Summa Theologiae I.1–49; Summa Contra Gentiles I.1–102. Free access to readings will be provided.

V3004 – THE STORY OF ANCIENT AND MEDIEVAL CHRISTENDOM*Taught by Matthew Hoskin*

In this course, students will study Christian history from the post-apostolic age to the middle decades of the 1400s. Through these centuries, the body of Christ went from a small persecuted band of disciples to a nearly worldwide organisation gathering in councils to determine the future of its faithfulness to its head. The course’s vision of the church will not be restricted to the Mediterranean and western Europe but will present Christianity in mediaeval Africa and Asia as well with a geographical sweep from Iceland in the North to Ethiopia in the South, from Ireland in the West to China in the East. Professor Hoskin believes that law and its outworking is one major thread running from God’s self-revelation in Scripture until today, in canon law, in liturgy, in ethics, in the many ways God’s people have sought to live out their faithfulness through the ages—even in theology and private devotion. This course closes in 1453 with the fall of Constantinople, the failure of East-West reconciliation, and the structural seeds of Reform already being sown with the failure of the Conciliar Movement.

Required reading: Various primary texts; Henry Bettenson and Chris Maunder, eds, Documents of the Christian Church, 4th ed. (Oxford: Oxford University Press, 2011).

MICHAELMAS TERM

BIBLE

B5001 – NATURAL LAW AND SCRIPTURAL AUTHORITY (CORE)

Taught by Tim Jacobs

Although Protestants are familiar with the doctrine of sola Scriptura, they are less familiar with the equally important Reformation teaching that God reveals himself through the “two books” of Scripture and nature, and how the two relate. This course, with readings from Aquinas, Calvin, Hemmingsen, and Hooker, along with key Scriptural passages, will help students understand the meaning of sola Scriptura and the use of moral reason in classical Protestantism.

THEOLOGY

T8007 – SEX, GENDER, AND CHRISTIAN DOCTRINES

Taught by Alastair Roberts

This course explores both theological and practical questions related to a Christian understanding of the sexes. Topics include church office and ecclesiology, marriage, sex, procreation, and family, as well as foundational doctrines in theology proper and theological anthropology. The course invites students to engage deeply with Scripture, tradition, and contemporary reflection on these vital issues. This course stands on its own while also serving as the fourth installment in a broader series on Christian theology and the sexes.

PHILOSOPHY

P5001 – APPROACHES TO DEFENDING THE FAITH

Taught by Joe Minich

Apologetics is often viewed as a matter of mere arguments. This course, whilst surveying the major schools of apologetics, will reframe apologetic encounters as occurring between whole persons, with many persuasive tools coalescing to persuade one’s interlocutor. Students will learn how to cultivate tools and habits of soul in order to be more effective Christian witnesses.

P7002 – MEDIEVAL METAPHYSICS: FROM AUGUSTINE TO RENAISSANCE

Taught by Tim Jacobs

The intellectual tradition of the Church undergoes a profound transformation in the wake of Augustine’s thought, raising enduring questions that shape the course of medieval philosophy. This course traces the major metaphysical and theological debates from late antiquity through the high and late Middle Ages (c. 300–1500 AD), exploring how figures such as Boethius, Avicenna, Abelard, Averroes, Maimonides, Aquinas, Scotus, and Ockham engaged with and extended classical philosophical inheritance. Key disputes—such as those between realists and nominalists or Thomists and Scotists—will be examined with their philosophical distinctives and historical influence. Readings will include selections from primary texts, with attention to metaphysics, epistemology, and theological method. Prior familiarity with Plato and Aristotle is helpful but not required.

CHRISTIAN HISTORY

H8005 – FREE CHOICE IN EARLY MODERN REFORMED THEOLOGY

Taught by Michael Lynch

How can free choice exist in a world governed by God’s sovereign will? What is the nature of human freedom, and how does God’s foreknowledge reconcile with human moral responsibility? This course explores early modern Reformed understandings of the relationship between free choice and divine sovereignty, examining theological, philosophical, and historical contexts from the 16th to 18th centuries. We will delve into the thought of key Reformed thinkers on the nature of freedom, divine providence, and human agency, while also considering classical and medieval perspectives that shaped these early modern debates. Through careful analysis, students will engage with the rich tradition of Reformed thought on the relationship between divine sovereignty and human will.

H8007 – ATHANASIUS AGAINST THE WORLD: HIS LIFE, TIMES, AND THEOLOGY

Taught by Matthew Hoskin

This course offers an in-depth exploration of the life and work of St. Athanasius, one of the most influential defenders of Nicene orthodoxy. We will examine not only his role as a theologian and polemicist in the context of the Arian controversy but also his multifaceted identity as a pastor, spiritual leader, and promoter of the Egyptian desert monastic movement. Through a careful study of his writings and historical context, students will gain insight into Athanasius's theological contributions, his pastoral concerns, and his enduring legacy in the shaping of Christian doctrine and practice.

HILARY TERM

BIBLE

B7002 – ACCORDING TO THE SCRIPTURES: CROSS AND RESURRECTION IN THE OLD TESTAMENT

Taught by Alastair Roberts

The apostles claimed that Christ's death and his resurrection on the third day occurred 'according to the Scriptures'. This course offers a close exploration of the witness of the Old Testament in light of this claim, considering many of the ways in which themes of death and resurrection pervade it, and how the revelation of Christ in the fullness of time illuminates its texts.

THEOLOGY

T5001 – PROTESTANT MORAL THEOLOGY (CORE)

Taught by Tim Jacobs

Protestant moral theology is memorably summed up by Martin Luther's dictum, "The Christian is the most free lord of all, subject to none. The Christian is the most dutiful servant of all, and subject to everyone." In this course, we will unpack this profound dialectic, explaining the true shape of Christian liberty that flows from justification by faith but that is ordered to love of neighbor in the life of sanctification. In the process, we will explore the role of the law, the virtues, and the conscience in a well-rounded Protestant approach to ethics.

T7301 – THE BASICS OF TRINITARIAN THEOLOGY

Taught by Ryan Hurd

This course offers a foundational introduction to Trinitarian theology. It is suitable for beginners seeking to understand core principles—such as the nature of processions, how opposed relations constitute the divine persons, and related concepts. Students will gain familiarity with the historical development of the doctrine and be introduced to major texts in the tradition.

PHILOSOPHY

P5002 – PHILOSOPHY FOR THEOLOGY (CORE)

Taught by Joe Minich

This course will introduce students to the philosophical grammar that God's people have found useful throughout the ages in grasping the content of their faith. While this course will be weighted toward a broad survey of scholastic metaphysics, anthropology, and ethics, we will also consider other ancient and modern trends that have helped to illuminate the Christian faith.

P7105 – THE SOUL AND THE CITY: A SEMINAR ON PLATO'S REPUBLIC

Taught by Tim Jacobs

This seminar offers a close reading of Plato's Republic, examining its treatment of justice, the soul, the ideal city, ethics, and philosophical rule. We will also read selections from other Platonic dialogues to clarify and deepen our understanding of key themes. Attention will be given to the Republic's metaphysical claims, moral education, and political vision, as well as major interpretive debates. Prior familiarity with ancient philosophy is recommended but not required.

CHRISTIAN HISTORYH8006 – PREDESTINATION AND REPROBATION IN EARLY MODERN THEOLOGY

Taught by Michael Lynch

This course provides an introduction to the debates surrounding predestination and reprobation in early modern theology, focusing on how medieval predestinarian views were both upheld and contested during this period. Special attention will be given to two pivotal controversies: the Congregatio de Auxiliis and the Synod of Dordt. These debates will serve as a springboard for exploring related theological issues such as free choice, theodicy, grace, and the nature of humanity. Through careful examination of these controversies, students will gain a deeper understanding of how early modern theologians engaged with the complex interplay between divine sovereignty, human will, and the problem of evil.

H8011 – THE CONFESSIONS OF ST. AUGUSTINE

Taught by Matthew Hoskin

The Confessions of St Augustine is one of Augustine's most treasured works, undoubtedly the most popular today. One of the rare autobiographies of the ancient world, it stands alone amongst the genres of ancient literature. In this course, students will encounter this breathtaking spiritual classic in the context of the theological and spiritual world of Late Antiquity that St Augustine inhabited.

TRINITY TERM

BIBLE

B7442 – GOSPEL OF LUKE

Taught by Alastair Roberts

This course offers an in-depth study of the Third Gospel, exploring its unique portrayal of Jesus and his ministry. Special attention will be given to the Gospel's literary structure, thematic development, and the distinctive theological voice of its author. Students will examine the Gospel's varied themes, its relationship to the other Gospels and the broader New Testament, its use of Old Testament Scripture, and its rich typological and symbolic dimensions. Through careful analysis, the course will highlight the Gospel's enduring significance within the Christian tradition.

B8001 – AQUINAS'S COMMENTARY ON JOB

Taught by Ryan Hurd

This course offers a study of Thomas's Commentary on Job (Expositio super Iob ad litteram), with particular attention to the nature of his ad litteram interpretation (by contrast to e.g., Gregory's mystical interpretation), as well as his analysis of the Book as fundamentally giving probable arguments for divine providence (as Thomas explains in his prologue). Students will explore how Aquinas interprets Job's suffering, divine providence, justice, and the mystery of human affliction in light of his broader theological vision. The course will consider Aquinas's engagement with the biblical text, his use of patristic and scholastic sources, and the commentary's place within the medieval tradition of biblical interpretation.

THEOLOGY

T8007 – INTRODUCTION TO SCHOLASTIC THEOLOGY: THE PROJECT AND ITS METHOD

Taught by Ryan Hurd

This course is not an introduction to scholasticism, but to scholastic theology, both its nature and methods. It aims to equip the contemporary student of scholastic theology with all the necessary "scholasticisms" (scholastic neologisms) which are required to actually handle scholastic texts. To grapple with these scholasticisms, the student will be introduced to scholastic texts like Abelard's Sic et non, Anselm's Monologion, Lombard's Sentences, and Thomas's Summae. Definitions of ratio, auctoritas, opinio and sententia, quaestio, and so on will be provided. The various methods which scholastics deploy in their texts will be thoroughly analyzed.

T7302 – BASICS OF CHRISTOLOGY

Taught by Ryan Hurd

This course provides a foundational introduction to Christology. It is suitable for beginners who want to understand key principles—such as what it means to say that Christ is one person with two natures, how different predicates apply to each nature, and related topics. Students will gain familiarity with the historical development of the doctrine and be introduced to major texts in the tradition.

PHILOSOPHY

P5003 – PHILOSOPHY AS A WAY OF LIFE (CORE)

Taught by Joe Minich

Philosophy at its inception was understood as a way of life, not the reserve of experts. This course recovers this approach to the philosophical enterprise, asking what it means to live philosophically, whilst cultivating a humble heart and bold curiosity. For the Christian, this pursuit of truth ultimately means seeing the divine Logos throughout the world and our lives.

P7203 – CLASSICAL LOGIC: AN ARISTOTLE SEMINAR*Taught by Tim Jacobs*

This seminar offers a focused study of classical logic through the lens of Aristotle, the foundational figure in the development of logical theory in the Western tradition. Designed to sharpen students' reasoning and analytic skills, the course engages closely with key texts from the Organon—including Categories, On Interpretation, Prior Analytics, Posterior Analytics, Topics, and On Sophistical Refutations. To support systematic training in formal reasoning, students will also work through Peter Kreeft's Socratic Logic, gaining practical mastery in classical syllogistic logic within a philosophically rich context.

CHRISTIAN HISTORYH5001 – REFORMATION AND THE MODERN WORLD (CORE)Taught by Christian Finnigan*

Once upon a time, Protestants liked to take credit for the glories of the modern world, but as attitudes on modernity have soured, many have been quick to turn the narrative around and blame Protestantism for its cultural decline. Was the Reformation to blame? What is the true story? This course will offer students a fuller perspective on why the Reformation was necessary, what aspects of Christendom it did and did not seek to change, and the lasting legacy it left, both good and ill, for the world we live in today.

H8008 – THE SYNOD OF DORDT AND ITS CANONS*Taught by Michael Lynch*

"There is no way to deny that what is expressed in the Canons of Dort is the authentic concern of the Reformation" (Karl Barth). Have you ever wondered where we got the so-called 'Five Points of Calvinism'? This past year marked the 400th anniversary of the Synod of Dort (1618–1619), an international assembly of Reformed churches held in Dordrecht, Netherlands. The Synod's most significant outcome, the Canons of Dort, is considered by many to be the genesis of the 'Five Points of Calvinism.' Participants in the Synod included prominent Dutch, British, German, and Swiss theologians and ministers. This Synod marked the high point of Reformed orthodoxy. In this class we will explore the historical and theological aspects of the Canons of Dort with an in-depth investigation of early modern Remonstrant and Reformed soteriology.

LITERATUREL8005 – KING ARTHUR AND THE BAPTISM OF THE EUROPEAN IMAGINATIONTaught by Matthew Hoskin*

King Arthur stands as a central figure in the development of Christian-themed literature across medieval Europe, leaving a lasting legacy on the literary traditions of the continent. This course explores the Christian dimensions of key Arthurian texts from the Middle Ages, tracing their evolution from Geoffrey of Monmouth to Thomas Malory. Special emphasis will be placed on Sir Gawain and the Green Knight and The Quest of the Holy Grail, examining how these works reflect and shape Christian ideals of virtue, sacrifice, and divine mystery within the chivalric world.

SUMMER TERM

RESIDENTIAL COURSES

See Residential Courses at the top of the Course Descriptions section.

BIBLE

B8002 – BIBLICAL LAW

Taught by Alastair Roberts

The Law is both fundamental and central to the biblical witness. This course will explore the Scripture's own theology of the Law, its diverse content, its redemptive historical unfolding, its fulfilment in Christ and his body, and its proper place in our lives. The Law is a central theme throughout the Scriptures and focusing upon it will shed light on a host of other areas: our account of redemptive history and salvation, our Christology, our eschatology, our understanding of the Church, our doctrine of Scripture, our teaching concerning Christian moral duty and instruction, and much besides.

CHRISTIAN HISTORY

H8010 – THE NICENE FAITH: THEOLOGY, SCRIPTURE, AND THE CHURCH FATHERS

Taught by Wyatt Graham

This course will demonstrate by a close reading of patristic texts and Scripture how the Fathers read Scripture in order to demonstrate the Nicene Faith. In particular, it will show Nicene authors countered Arian approaches to Scripture. It will also uncover the historical and political situation that led to the Nicene and Niceno-Constantinopolitan Creed. By the end of this course, you will confidently be able to grasp how our Fathers read and argued for the consubstantiality of the Son with the Father; and you will understand the theological and historical contours of this key century of Christianity.

THEOLOGY

T6100 – MORAL THEOLOGY FOR COUNSELING

Taught by Jim Pocta

Scripture, with its rich and complex narratives, unveils the deep interweaving of wickedness and woundedness, illuminating the pathologies and challenges that shape human life and character. Sin permeates every facet of existence. In this course, we will examine Herman Bavinck's Ethics and Foundations of Psychology, alongside other contemporary works, to explore how a theology of counseling grounded in redemptive grace leads to healing and transformation through God's life-giving purposes.

PHILOSOPHY

P5004 – PHILOSOPHY OF MODERNITY

Taught by Joseph Minich

In this course, we will look at how several thinkers interpret man and his story relative to the question of modernity. Our goal will be to learn from and critique these thinkers in order that we might gesture toward a more complete understanding of our civilization, as well as our task within it. The course will draw from Herman Bavinck, C.S. Lewis, Anthony Giddens, Charles Taylor, and L.M. Sacasas, among others.

LITERATURE

L8002 – OLD ENGLISH HEROIC LITERATURE

Taught by Anthony Cirilla

Anglo-Saxon Christianity held its heroic past in high esteem, as can be seen in its extant literature. To delve into this relationship between pagan heroism and Christian identity, we will read Beowulf, The Dream of the Rood, and the creative adaptation of the Old English Boethius. A primary consideration will be the way these poems wrestle with the value of a pagan heroic warrior culture for their Christian descendants, both the poets and their audiences in Anglo-Saxon England.

Frequently Asked Questions

01

DO I NEED TO BE A SEMINARIAN OR GRAD STUDENT TO PARTICIPATE?

No, in fact, you do not need to currently belong to an academic institution at all. Undergraduate students, pastors, teachers, and independent scholars are welcome as well.

DO I NEED TO APPLY?

If you want to participate as a degree-seeking student in one of our Certificates, M.St, or M.Litt program, then yes, you do, although the application process is very straightforward. Applications may be found on our website. If you are participating as an auditor or just want to take individual classes for credit now (which could later be applied to a degree), then no, you can register for individual courses.

ARE THERE ANY PREREQUISITES?

Not generally, although certain courses may require certain other courses as prerequisites (e.g. languages). All classes are open to students 18 and over who are capable of deep reading, charitable engagement, and coherent writing (though of course students will be expected to grow in these skills through participation). While a wide range of people may take courses, admittance to one of our programs generally requires an undergraduate degree or significant undergraduate coursework, though this will be assessed on a case-by-case basis.

CAN I ENROLL IN MORE THAN ONE CERTIFICATE?

Yes, you can! Students enrolled in multiple certificates can count core courses as dual credit, as long as the courses meet the requirements of both certificates. Electives cannot count towards multiple certificates.

WHAT IS THE TYPICAL FORMAT FOR A CLASS?

Davenant offers courses during four terms: fall (“Michaelmas”), winter (“Hilary”), spring (“Trinity”), and summer. During normal terms, classes meet weekly for a two-hour live session for 10 weeks. The summer term is 8-weeks, so class sessions are 2.5 hours. Class sessions typically involve a combination of lecture and seminar-style discussion of primary texts. Course requirements include weekly attendance and significant writing, usually in the form of small papers and a term paper.

06

WHAT IS THE TIME COMMITMENT?

The standard format for online courses is 10 weeks, 2 hrs/wk (summer 8 weeks, 2.5 hrs/wk). For-credit students should plan on spending roughly 4 hrs/wk on average outside of class for each online course. Full-time students should plan on enrolling in four to five classes each term (no less than four, no more than six).

HOW DO THE LIVE CLASSES WORK?

All of our live classes use industry-leading video conferencing software, Zoom. Recordings of each class session will be made available for students who were unable to attend a particular class meeting.

08 DOES IT MATTER WHAT TIME ZONE I'M IN?

It is important that for-credit students be able to participate in live classes, although auditors may participate via recordings only if desired. It is our goal to schedule live class times that are convenient for all enrolled students. If the scheduled time does not work for you, you should consult the Drop Policy in the Registration section of the catalog. If you are an international student, please consult our International Student Policy in our Registration section of the catalog.

09 IS THERE A DROP/ADD DATE?

See Fee Schedule and Drop Policy under Registration at the beginning of the Catalog.

10 WHAT IS THE TRANSFER CREDIT POLICY?

See the Transfer Policy under Registration at the beginning of the Catalog.

11 CAN I RECEIVE CREDIT TOWARD A DEGREE AT ANOTHER INSTITUTION?

Our program is new, but the Davenant Institute has excellent relationships with numerous institutions of higher education, at the undergraduate, graduate, and seminary levels, and will be working over the coming years to establish transfer-credit arrangements with such institutions. If you would like to inquire about the possibility of such an arrangement with your current institution, please contact Davenant Hall.

12 HOW DO RESIDENTIAL COURSES WORK?

Residential intensive courses will run for one week in the summer and should be considered full-time commitments. Davenant Discipleship Weeks will be scheduled with each student at a time that is convenient for them and their family. For more information, please see our website at davenanthall.com and contact Davenant Hall.

13 ARE SCHOLARSHIPS AVAILABLE?

At present, no. We have made an effort to price these classes at rock-bottom levels, so that cost will not be an obstacle to most students.

14 ARE THE DEGREE PROGRAMS CURRENTLY ACCREDITED?

Davenant Hall is not currently accredited by any outside agency, although we believe our courses and our program as a whole conform to high standards of professional qualification, academic rigor, and student assessment. As the program grows, we are steadily building relationships with other academic institutions to have our courses and degrees recognized for transfer credit or advanced standing.
